Jazz is often regarded as America?s original art form, yet its roots are deeply intertwined with African musical traditions. Enslaved Africans brought with them a wealth of rhythmic complexity, call-and-response patterns, and improvisational techniques that laid the groundwork for jazz. Genesis of the Project

Africa Speaks America was conceived as a response to the growing recognition of Africa's profound influence on the development of jazz and American music at large. Initiated in 2019, the project was a collaborative effort between several jazz ensembles, cultural organizations, and music educators from both continents. The core idea was to create a musical dialogue—an exchange that pays homage to Africa's rhythmic and melodic traditions while integrating them into the improvisational and harmonic complexity of modern jazz.

The project's founding members included:

- Vocalist and composer Angelique Kidjo, known for her vibrant Afro-pop and world music projects.

- The Smithsonian Institution's Jazz Department, providing academic and historical support.
- African drumming and dance ensembles, contributing authentic rhythmic elements.

This coalition aimed to produce an album and live performances that not only showcase musical fusion but also serve as cultural bridges, emphasizing shared histories and contemporary ties.

Philosophy and Cultural Intent

At its core, Africa Speaks America is more than just a musical project; it's a statement on cultural resilience and interconnectedness. The initiative seeks to:
