Fenwicke Holmes was an American spiritual teacher, author, and speaker associated with the New Thought movement. Rooted in a metaphysical outlook, Holmes emphasized the power of the mind, spiritual principles, and the importance of aligning oneself with universal laws to achieve a fulfilled life. His teachings often revolve around the idea that human beings are divine creators capable of shaping their reality through thought, belief, and spiritual awareness.

Holmes's philosophy is influenced by various spiritual traditions, including Christian mysticism, Eastern philosophies, and modern psychology. His approach is characterized by a focus on the individual's inner life and the understanding that true transformation begins within. Central to Holmes's teachings is the idea that understanding the dual aspects of being—our eternal essence—and becoming—our ongoing growth—are essential steps in spiritual evolution.

Defining 'Being' in Fenwicke Holmes's Philosophy

The Concept of 'Being'

In Holmes's view, "being" refers to the fundamental state of existence—our true nature or divine essence that exists beyond the fluctuations of life circumstances. It is the unchanging, eternal aspect of ourselves that remains constant regardless of external changes. Holmes often described this as the divine spark within each individual, an aspect of the universal consciousness.

Holmes believed that understanding and embracing our "being" involves recognizing our inherent divinity and aligning our thoughts and feelings with this truth. This recognition leads to a sense of stability, inner peace, and a foundation from which genuine growth can occur.

While "being" pertains to our eternal essence, "becoming" refers to the ongoing process of growth, development, and self-actualization. Holmes emphasized that human life is characterized by continuous evolution?our experiences, choices, and efforts shape who we are in the physical and material realms.

"Becoming" involves consciously working towards higher states of consciousness, improving our skills, cultivating virtues, and realizing our potential. Holmes saw this as a natural and necessary process?an outward expression of our inner divine nature through the unfolding of our life experiences.

- Dynamic Process: Life is an ongoing journey of growth.

Conversely, our ongoing "becoming" reflects the natural unfolding of our divine nature into the physical realm.

This dynamic balance suggests that spiritual growth is most authentic when rooted in a clear awareness of our eternal self.
